Grygoriy Shyshko NEW

On the anniversary of Ukraine's "orange revolution", a celebration of the modernist impressionism of Grygoriy Shyshko. For four decades, this original postwar painter went against the grain of Soviet realism. He depicted the industrial landscape at the economic and emotional heart of Ukraine, in bold, colour-blocked tones, capturing the sumptuous, changing backcloth of the region's extreme summers and winters, and making lush, lyrical images out of ugliness. Air Gallery, London W1, 020 7409 1255, Monday to November 26.
