

Yalanskyi's Polo Game.

Ukrainian art on show

A MAJOR exhibition of over 60 pictures from some of Ukraine's finest living artists is to take place at Kinblethmont Gallery near Arbroath.

Among the artists the gallery is featuring is Andriy Yalanskyi from the Ukrainian Academy of Arts, who has been called The Monet of Ukraine.

Gallery owner Robert Ramsay said, "Those who came to our spring exhibition will have seen a taster of his work.

"His pictures are shown and collected world-wide.

"His paintings of landscapes, farmyards and domestic animals show empathy with his subjects and the moods of the seasons with a freshness, movement, wit and a sense of immediacy."

Mr Yalanskyi be staying at Kinblethmont during the exhibition.

Mr Ramsay continued, "Ukrainian artists, in the middle of the last century were "encouraged" to work in the socialist realist style as approved by the Communist party of the USSR at that time.

"Since then they have developed their own styles, influenced, obviously by the art movements of western Europe and America."

The exhibition runs from tomorrow until October 12 and is open from 11am to 5pm every day.
